June 14—DOS Annual Meeting & Banquet Speaker: Bob Sprague, Introduction to Native Orchids

Originally from Long Island, NY Bob Sprague has lived in Pennsylvania since the mid seventies. He is a former Navy Supply Corps officer and a retired business executive. His psychology degree from Muhlenberg College should help him control his OCOD (obsessive, compulsive orchid disorder) but, he is a Director of the Native Orchid Conference and the Southeastern Pennsylvania Orchid Society anyway. He has also been volunteer President of Helping Hands, Inc. (a social service agency) for twenty years. And yes, he did lose a cell phone in an orchid bog "My first encounter with a wild orchid was at age 12 when I tried to transplant Cyp. acaule from a nearby woodland into my yard...a definite "no-no" as well as an impossible task...it didn't work. I've pursued a life-long interest in natural history...birds and wild flowers in particular...ever since. I've had the good fortune to travel to some interesting and remote places, camera in hand, looking for that perfect shot (one that's saleable). So far it has eluded me. Now, Amy has dragged me, kicking and screaming, into the digital age so, I'm starting over. In addition to photographing native orchids in situ, we grow tropical epiphytes in a warm greenhouse".

Mt. Cuba Center, the mid-Atlantic's premier native plant garden, will sponsor the 2011 Native Orchid Conference. The conference takes place on July 30 & 31, 2011 at Mt. Cuba Center in Hockessin, Delaware. This is the first time the conference will be held in Delaware. Optional field trips, sponsored by the Native Orchid Conference, Inc., will take place on August 1 & 2.

The conference brings orchid enthusiasts from the United States and Canada to hear experts in their field, to share information, and to observe orchids in their native habitat. Post-conference trips will be made to locations in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware where native orchids may be found. The conference is open to the public and registration information will be available on Mt. Cuba Center's website, www.mtcubacenter.org.

American Orchid Society News

AOS is on the move. At the members meeting held in April, it was announced that all members with email addresses would receive an invitation in early May to explore the AOS web site that has been under development which also included the new Orchids Plus program and to provide feedback. During that time, both web sites will run simultaneously. When the new site is made active you'll notice a new, fresh look to the AOS website. Its more than a cosmetic change. Along with upgrades and added material, the new Orchids Plus program will be available. If you are a current subscriber to AQ+, you will need to re-register in the new program. AOS also anticipates a 'social network' component to the website and it is currently under development.

In addition, at the Members meeting, the Board of Trustees announced that a committee has been formed to assess the future strategic partners for the AOS. Possible strategic partners are Huntington Gardens in California, Fairchild Botanical Garden in Florida and Longwood Gardens in Pennsylvania. The current AOS property in Delray is under contract for purchase and the potential purchaser is going through some local zoning change requirements. It is anticipated that sale will be completed in the last quarter of 2011.

The traditional Affiliated Societies breakfast was well attended. We had a conversation of what the AOS means to the affiliated societies and what can the societies do to further promote the AOS. The AOS reps present at the meeting asked for more communication between the AOS and the affiliated societies. The Affiliated Societies

Committee members will be reaching out to the societies throughout the upcoming months with the goal of getting all the contact information corrected and updated.

Does your society have any special members that they would like to recognize? If so, AOS can provide Certificates of Appreciation for your society to use in recognizing them for their outstanding achievements or contributions. If you have a need for these certificates or if you have any questions or concerns regarding the AOS in general, please feel to contact me through affiliated\_societies@aos.org.

AOS Affiliated Societies Committee
