

Delaware Orchid Society

Volume 10, Issue 1

January 2012

General Meeting: Tuesday, January 10, 2012

Speaker: Karen Zolnay, Hawk Haven Orchids

Topic: "Orchid Propagation"

Karen Zolnay (Hawk Haven Orchids) Overview of Orchid Propagation: Flower to Plant. This informational PowerPoint presentation will touch on the key aspects of orchid propagation from pollination and seed preparation to sterile workspaces, flasking, and community potting. This is meant to give the beginner a good foundation in the basics of sterile culture and the confidence to try this interesting aspect of orchid culture, using easily found items in their own homes. There will be time made available for questions and answers, as well as plants and supplies for purchase.

Karen Zolnay has been involved in orchid growing since 1987 when she fell in love with exotic flowers while visiting Hawaii. Shortly after her return, Karen took up the hobby of growing and blooming orchids. Over the years, her experience and collection grew and, in 2005, Karen launched Hawk Haven Orchids.

Hawk Haven Orchids focuses primarily on the propagation and culture of Cattleya, Phalaenopsis, and Vanda orchids. Karen's collection consists of many heirlooms and species in these genera. Her orchids have been sold through local retail shops, garden centers, over the internet, and at local fairs and garden shows. She routinely gives workshops on various aspects of orchid culture for regional clubs and organizations. Karen is also active in several clubs and has won awards for her plants at orchid judgings.

Recently, Karen has embarked on an ambitious hybridization project to create vivid blue cattleya flowers and is a co-founder of an international internet-based forum dedicated to this endeavor. This project is a collaborative effort with many of the top hybridizing experts in the field. The blue color is quite difficult to achieve; many have tried with limited success. It is the hopes that through this collaborative effort, the team will be able to succeed within the decade!

Additional information on Karen Zolnay and Hawk Haven Orchids can be found on the internet at <http://mysite.verizon.net/hawkhavenorchids> or by simply googling "Hawk Haven Orchids".

AOS Corner

While surfing AOS website for a topic for this month's AOS Corner, I came across a little known project of the, the Species Identification Task Force (SITF) AOS (in full disclosure, I have to admit it is little known by me probably because I am not a judge). SITF is under the supervision of the Judging Committee of the AOS and its mission is to try to improve and simplify the processing of awards, with the goal of ensuring that awarded species are correctly named. Members of the Task Force are not necessarily taxonomic experts but individuals who use reference material to confirm the identity of submitted awards. When the SITF collective expertise and reference collections are not adequate, members of the task force turn to a network of qualified experts.

The discussion on their website goes on to describe that the "task force replaces the previous cumbersome identification and verification procedure, which often involved shipping plant material to a taxonomic expert. The SITF, using today's electronic communications capabilities and readily available high quality digital images, hopes to facilitate the process of identifying awarded plants and to get the process done in a timely manner. Most awarded species do not need a taxonomist for identification, if reference material is available.

When reference material is not available we use taxonomic experts who are willing to give opinions based on digital photographs. Occasionally awards will require in depth investigation by a taxonomic specialist, and SITF coordinates this when it is required." Their webpage also provides links to a variety of other resources which any orchidist would find interesting to explore. To find out more about the SITF check out their site at <http://www.aosforum.org/sitf> - you should all enjoy exploring this site.

This SITF page on the AOS website is an example of the vast amount of information on the AOS website.

We are in the middle of an exciting show season and I hope you all will try to support the shows in your areas. Some that are on my radar screen for this year will be the 2012 Philadelphia International Flower Show. AOS will again be putting in an exhibit at this world renowned event. Last year 265,000 attendees visited this show over its 7 days. The theme this year is Hawaii: Islands of Aloha. A committee has been put together and we will be soliciting plant material and volunteers for 'manning' the site. Another show is the Spring Members' Meeting of the AOS. This will be hosted by the Wichita Orchid Society. More information on these two shows (including how to register for the Members' Meeting) will be forthcoming on the AOS website under Events.

Hope you all had a great holiday and New Years.

AOS Affiliated Societies Committee
